

SUPPLIER WORKPLACE CODE OF CONDUCT

Quiksilver seeks to do business with others around the world who respects the law, the culture in which they operate, and the workers who manufacture Quiksilver products and garments.

Quiksilver has developed this Supplier Workplace Code of Conduct (the "Code"), which is set forth below, reflects internationally recognized labor standards, and outlines Quiksilver's expectations concerning the conditions under which its products should be made.

In addition to the specific provisions in this Code, Quiksilver expects the independently owned, third-party suppliers that make its products to act ethically and reasonably in all respects, to meet their legal obligations as employers to their employees, and to do their best to ensure that no abusive, exploitative or illegal conditions exist at their workplaces.

I. Supplier's Agreement

A Supplier to Quiksilver agrees to:

- Comply with this Code.
- Disclose to Quiksilver the name and address of every Supplier of materials, components, or parts either marked with the Quiksilver names or logos or made exclusively for incorporation in Quiksilver products and the name and address of any sub-contractor used by it in the production of Quiksilver garments and products.
- Allow Quiksilver and its representatives to inspect its facilities to ensure compliance with this Code.
- Only deal with such Supplier(s) and sub-contractors who comply with this Code and who have signed a copy of this Code and who have agreed to permit Quiksilver and its representatives to inspect their facilities and documents to ensure compliance with this Code.
- By signing this Code, we certify that all products made for Quiksilver were made in compliance with the Code, and all applicable laws, rules, and regulations.
